

1 Picking a SKU

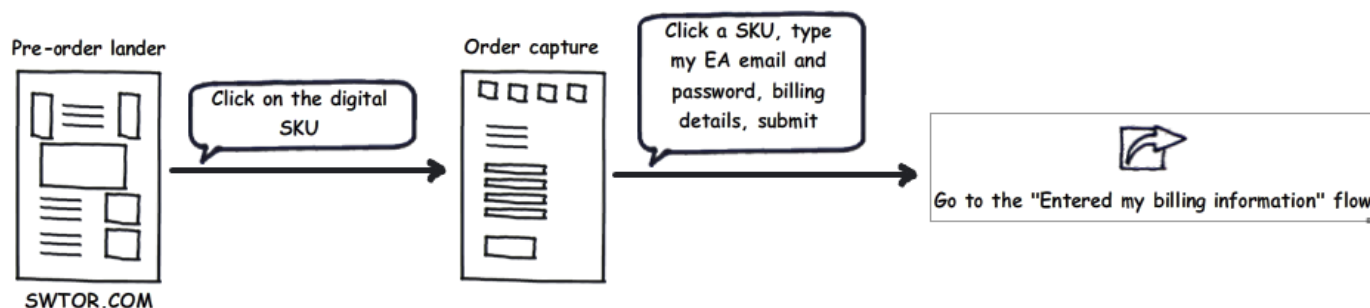

1a I want to buy from a physical store:

1b I don't have an EA account and I want to buy digital or from the EA Store:

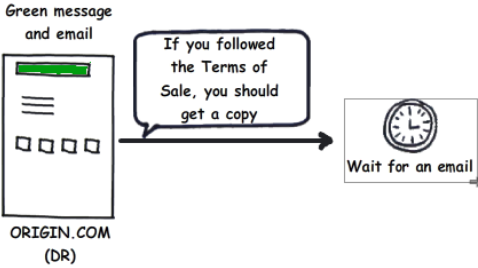

1c I already have an EA account and I want to buy digital or from the EA Store:

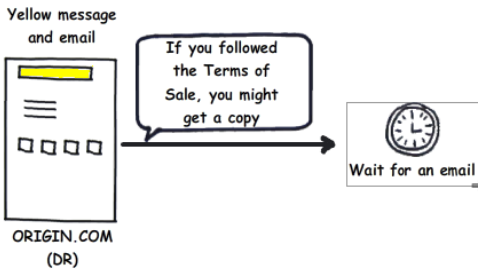

2 Entered my billing information and clicked Submit

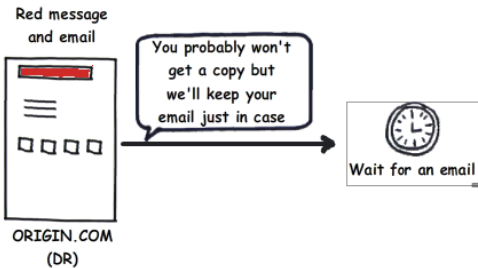

2a If I have a valid EA.COM account and my SKU should be available:

2b If I have a valid EA.COM account and my SKU is running out:

2c If I have a valid EA.COM account and my SKU is sold out:

Customers will be told if any SKUs are green and can attempt another purchase; this will take priority even if they would have eventually received their first choice.

2d If I have a valid EA.COM account but I entered my EA credentials wrong:

2e If I don't have an EA account (same as 1b):

3 Waiting for an email

3a I met the Terms of Sale and my SKU was in stock:

3b I met the Terms of Sale but my SKU was sold out:

3c I violated the Terms of Sale:

This includes trying to order more than one copy per EA account, or more than three with a single credit card.

There is one email for each order in violation.

3d I met the Terms of Sale but my billing information was wrong:

This starts the entire process over again, but you only have 72 hours to fix it, cumulative.

Failed retries may become available to waitlisted customers.

3e I met the Terms of Sale but my billing information was fraudulent:

Fraudulent orders may become available to waitlisted customers.

3f I was waitlisted and stock became available due to fraud or failed retries:

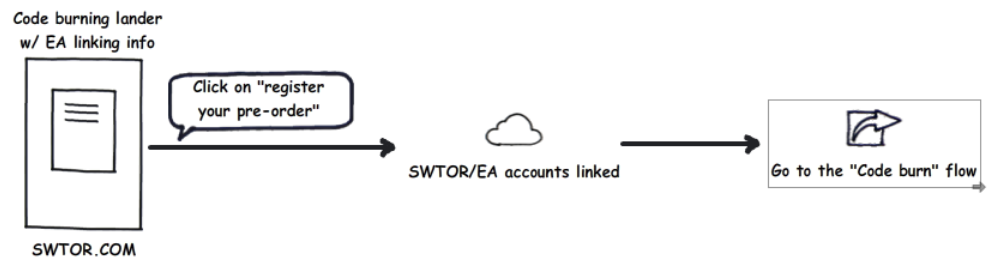

Right now, this email is managed and sent by us, but we've asked DR to take it on.

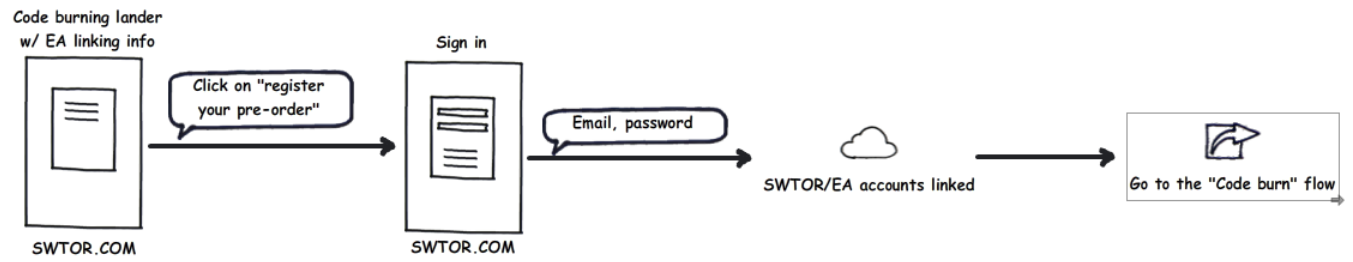

We may also drop this entirely.

4 Followed the link in my success email to burn my code

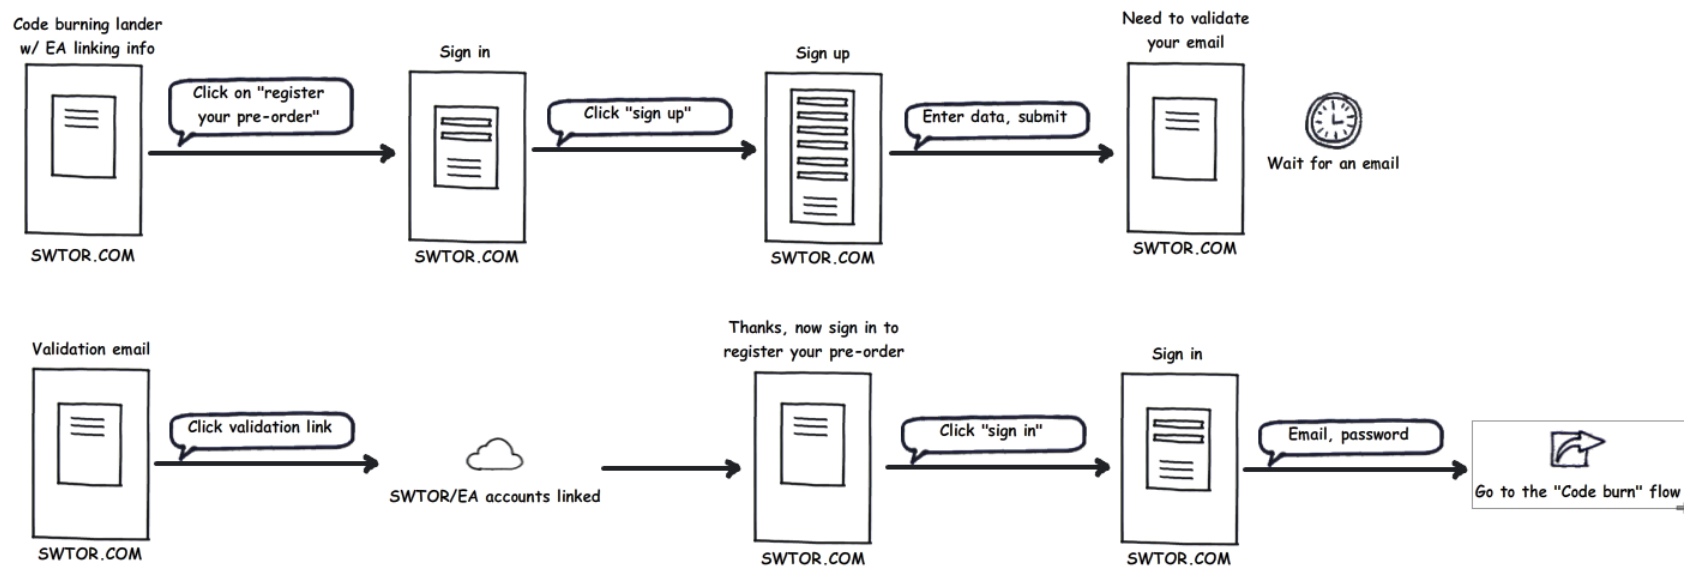

4a I am already logged into SWTOR.COM:

4b I am not logged into SWTOR.COM, but I have an account:

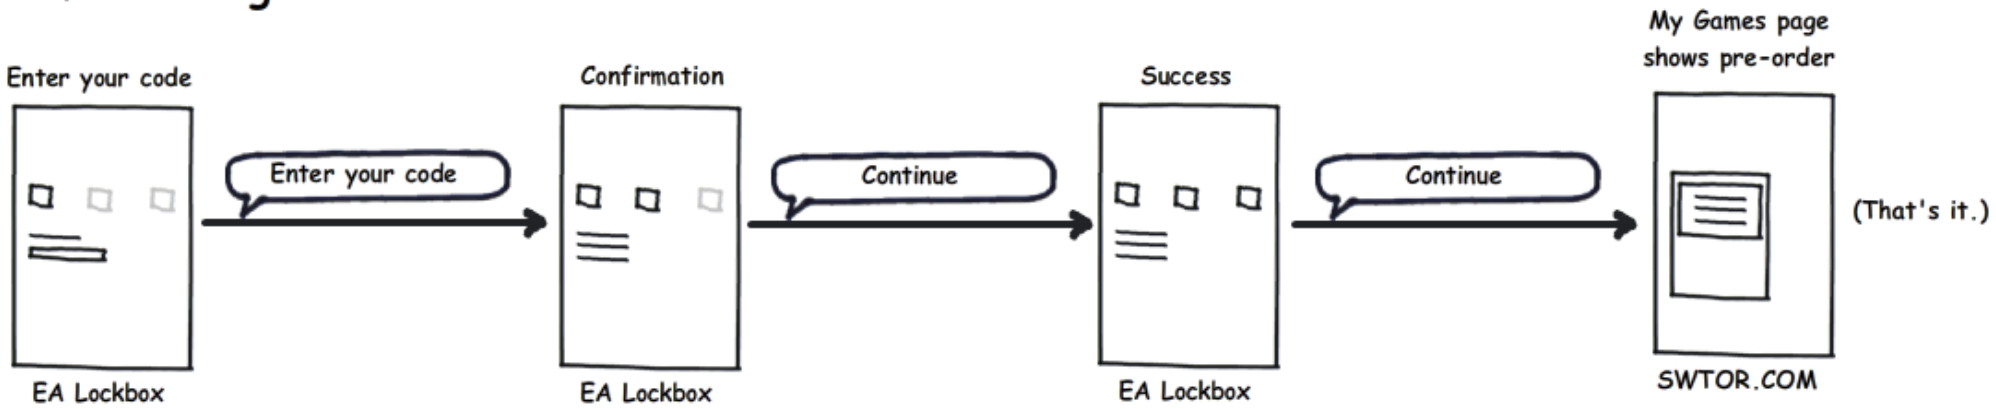

4c I am not logged into SWTOR.COM and have no account:

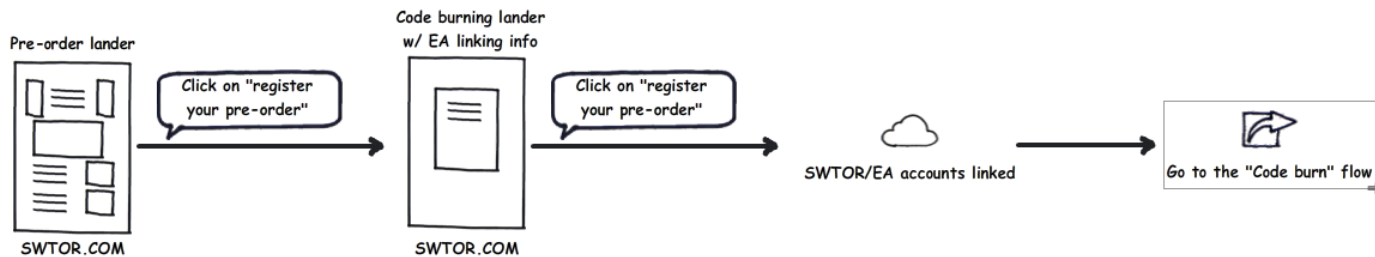

5 Burning a code

5a I'm entering a code:

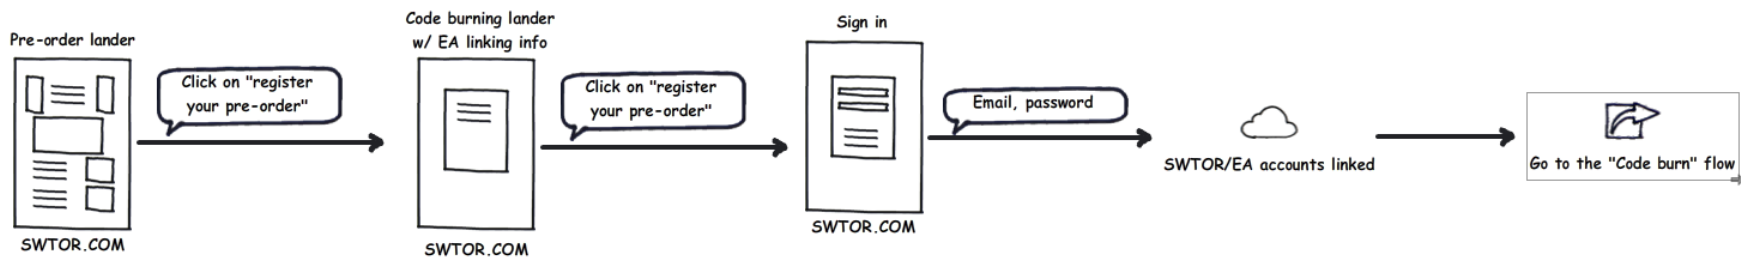

6 Bought a pre-order elsewhere and went back to the pre-order lander on SWTOR.COM to burn my code
